CITY TRUSTEES

Home Telephone Co. Enters Complaint—West-side Citizens Object to Dogs—Last Meeting in Old City Hall

All present. After reading of minutes, Mr. Arthur Campbell, manager of the Home Telephone company, appeared before the board and called attention to the condition and position of the feed wire of the Glendale Eagle Rock Railway company which on Third street is without insulation and in close proximity to telephone wires, being a menace to public safety. On motion of Mr. Watson the matter was referred to committee on public safety. Mr. C. D. Thom appeared to request that the Verdugo Springs Water Co. be remunerated for water used by the city. A delegation of citizens from the West Side appeared and protested against a dog ranch which has been established on Sycamore street, the same being a public nuisance. Referred to the police and sanitary committee and the city attorney. Mr. Porter addressed the board regarding the proposed lighting district in the territory west of Central avenue, stating that the proposed assessment of $8 against a lot was not generally understood and action should be deferred. He was referred to the manager of the lighting department. Demands were reported back approved. The fire and public safety committee reported in regard to crossing at Fourth and Central, that it is no worse than a number of other crossings in the city, and made no recommendation. The fire marshal recommended putting in a fire hydrant on Fourth street between Adams and Verdugo road. He was instructed to put it in. The city attorney recommended purchase by the city of a copy of the code as amended by the special session; so ordered. A letter was received from Ralph Rogers, president of the Consolidated Water Co., in reply to request of trustees for further details in regard to their business, stating that they have no records further back than 1910 and that the bonded indebtedness of the company is $5,500,000. The letter was referred. Ordinance changing place of meeting of trustees to new city hall was read third time and adopted. A motion passed that when adjournment is made it be until noon Thursday, when the board will meet to pass upon, and if satisfactory, accept the new city hall.

An ordinance prohibiting lotteries, raffles, slot machines and all games of chance, final reading and adopted. This becomes effective Thursday, March 21.

A resolution giving notice of municipal election for April 8th, was passed.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING.

The Chamber of Commerce provided an unusually fine entertainment for the public last Friday evening and a large audience showed its appreciation of the program. Mr. Clarence Krimbill played a piano solo and also furnished the accompaniments. Miss Frances Payne rendered a violin solo and Messrs. Owen Emery, Frank Geiger and Mrs. Estella May Orth were the vocal soloists, all being deservedly encored. Mr. M. V. Hartranft, of the Western Empire Company, addressed the audience on the "Assets of a Dry Year," showing that among other good things that sometimes come from a limited rainfall, the Owens River Aqueduct stands conspicuous, as it would never have been conceived or would have been long delayed had it not been for a succession of two or three years of "dry years." He spoke briefly of the wonderful development through immense irrigation systems in countries of the far east and expressed the belief that the Owens River plan was but the beginning of a series of similar great projects.

Mr. R. W. Pridham, chairman of the board of supervisors, gave an interesting talk on county affairs, particularly roads, and took occasion to compliment Glendale on its fine streets, being in that respect second to no other city in the county except Pasadena or possibly Monrovia. He spoke also about the proposed new charter for Los Angeles county, by the adoption of which the county will be able to secure home rule instead of being hampered by the general state law as at present. He urged the planting of trees along our streets and said that the county is now engaged in doing considerable of this work and will gladly co-operate with municipalities in this matter.

POLITICS

Not Much Doing Except on the Quiet—One or Two More Names to Choose From

There has been no developments of interest in the political campaign during the past week. Mr. W. A. Anderson, former trustee, has filed his certificate for the same position again, and enters the race to add to the general interest and increase the number of "good men and true" from which citizens may choose. It is extremely doubtful if any of the three tickets named will be supported by the voters in its entirety. In the contest for school trustee, Dr. Crosswell of Casa Verdugo has been added to its ticket by the Citizens' League, its three candidates now being Mrs. J. N. Witham, Mr. J. E. Hellyer and Dr. Crosswell. As noted by letter published in this issue, Mr. G. E. Williams declines to stand for trustee of the High School.

At a meeting of the Citizens' League Thursday evening of last week, the candidates named on that ticket were present and declared themselves, all making good, sensible talks, which were well received. Mr. Howard, replying to objections to the effect that he is employed in Los Angeles, asked pertinently which citizen's money is of the greater benefit to Glendale, that of the man who brings from Los Angeles a monthly salary and spends the greater portion of it here, or the one who makes his money here and goes from one side of town to the other to spend it.

Sidney Dell, Esq., is still on the war path against annexation, and has put out a warm number in the shape of a circular attacking his old enemy, the "Glendale Bunch," and attempting to secure support for his "storm drain district" project.

March 11, 1912.

Mr. E. U. Emery,
Chairman Glendale Progressive League, Glendale, Cal.

My Very Dear Sir:

Referring to the action of the League recently, in nominating me a candidate for high school trustee for this district, at the coming spring election, I beg to state at this time, that I keenly appreciate the honor you gentlemen have conferred upon me by so doing. However, after fully considering the matter from various points have concluded owing to the multitude of other personal duties I see confronting me for the ensuing year, it would be unwise for me to accept anything in the nature of a public office, and although I would enjoy the work, I feel that I must withdraw my name as a candidate.

Thanking you for the confidence you have placed in me, I remain,

Yours truly,
GEO. E. WILLIAMS

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

The wet weather has not been favorable to transactions during the past week, but certainly goes far towards paving the way for a lively trade in the near future. The new city hall is completed and will be occupied by the city officials during the coming week, the trustees holding their meeting there next Monday evening. The largest business block in the city is to be erected by Parker and Sternberg on Brand boulevard, a permit for the same in the amount of $25,000 having been taken out. The building will be of two stories, covering a ground space of a hundred feet square just north of the garage. Mr. J. H. Flower has taken out a permit for a new block to cost $6000 which will fill in the space between the present Flower block and the new structure spoken of above. Mr. J. F. McIntyre is excavating on his lot adjoining the Bank of Glendale building on the east preparatory to starting a new block there in the near future.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The debate between Glendale and Santa Monica teams comes off this evening (Friday), as previously announced.

Mr. Taylor and his class in agriculture spent a half day last week visiting and inspecting the Los Angeles Creamery and taking points in connection with the handling of milk, work in the laboratory upon bacteriology, etc.

Mr. Gates of the commercial department visited Los Angeles commercial schools Monday.

Mr. White, Dana Burkett and Willard Brown were guests of the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. Monday evening, where plans were discussed for the work of the Students' League, particularly in reference to the coming spring banquet, which is to be managed by the League. Alex. McElroy was appointed to represent the League in Glendale for the League paper.

Miss Edna Buggeln of the Immaculate Heart Convent, will visit Miss Katherine Wells of West Fourth street the latter part of this week and the first of next week.

THE STORM

Another Heavy Rainfall—Damage Done by Storm Water

When we went to press last week there had been a rainfall during the two days preceding, of about four inches. Last Saturday another storm came on and while no rain fell on Sunday or Monday, Tuesday proved to be an old-fashioned "wet day," the rain coming down in heavy showers at times while snow fell on the mountains back of La Crescenta. By Mr. Bartlett's gauge, the last storm measured 1.65 inches, making a total of 9.13 for the season. The last storm gave a full two inches in some parts of the valley and was evidently heavier in the mountains, for at times a flood of water came down from the canyons.

The Verdugo Wash went on its annual rampage Saturday night. The flood water coming down to the Louise street bridge took out about half of the approach on the north side, scooping out on its way there about 25 feet from the rear of two lots fronting north on Ethel street, each lot having on its front an unoccupied house. Coming on to Brand boulevard the channel made by the sand haulers was quickly filled in and the concrete bed of the roadway on the east side of the railroad track was washed out with the earth beneath it for a depth of ten feet. The railroad bridge in the center, and the county bridge adjoining it on the west side remained intact. Moving on toward Central avenue the water made its way with difficulty under the bridge on the Burbank extension and was turned southward into the rear of three or four Arden avenue lots, tumbling a large out house on one of them into the stream and scooping out about 25 feet of land. Approaches to the Central avenue bridge were considerably damaged by the washing away of the dirt at both ends. From there to the laundry westward the stream went on its merry course, washing out the rear half of nearly all of the lots fronting on Arden. Two houses near the laundry were almost wrecked, the earth being washed out from beneath them for a distance of 25 feet.

Another house west of the laundry stands now on a lot fifty feet shorter than it originally was. Providentially the rain ceased without working further damage. No doubt considerable danger was averted by the action of City Engineer Lynch who took a gang of men to the scene while the storm was at its height and did good work in turning the water into its proper channel.

On the East Side, the wash from Sycamore canyon brought another body of storm water down across Verdugo road near First street which passed on down past the school house on Fourth street, doing some slight damage on its way. The stream divided at Fourth street, part going west on Adams and the remainder taking its natural course down the Childs tract line, depositing mud and doing some slight damage here and there. High water only continued a short time. Considerable damage was done to roads in Verdugo Canon.

Later.—About 2:30 Wednesday afternoon rain and hail began falling, and continued heavily for half an hour. At the end of that time there was a thin coating of hail on the ground, and in sheltered places there was sufficient to enable the boys to do some "snowballing." The rainfall for the day measured a half inch. Thursday opens beautifully clear, with snow on the Sierra Madres.

STORM WATER.

A Business-like Proposition.

To Property Owners Bordering on Verdugo Wash:

Having studied conditions existing along said wash for the past six years I am convinced that I can control the storm water for a nominal price.

I will construct a reinforced concrete wall on each side of the wash, excavate the channel to a sufficient depth and level, fill in behind the walls and pay for all engineering for the sum of three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) per lineal foot.

This work will not have to be paid for until it has been tested and proven satisfactory. I have consulted with a number of the property owners who have been in favor of cooperating in the plan. Not knowing many of the owners, I suggest the ones who read this article to get together and talk it over. I will be pleased to meet with them and explain my plan.

GLENDALE COUNTRY CLUB.

The storm had no effect on our enthusiastic bowlers who turned out strong as usual. Dr. Chase leads with high average and score. The club rooms were alive with members and their friends Saturday, who came up to spend the day and keep out of the rain. Among them was Dr. J. T. Murray, who is now in Los Angeles, Mr. T. R. Grady, another member here for his health, left Sunday for Bakersfield where he is in business.

The card party was a success. Everyone had a most enjoyable time. The Cotillion met on Monday evening, as scheduled, and many catchy and picturesque sets were practiced for the coming dance on Friday, March 22d. HAR. S. DELMAR, Mgr.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Cady have returned to Glendale after ten days enjoyed in San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Cady will be at home to their friends at 1471 West Fourth street after the twenty-fifth of this month.

LAUNDRY MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

The Glendale Laundry Company continues to put in new machinery and adopt new methods all calculated to increase their facilities for handling their rapidly growing business and for doing good work. The new management has added two new autos to their delivery system. Among the new machinery is a "Press" machine which is designed to handle goods without friction or strain and thus avoid the principal cause of wear and tear which has come to be considered an unavoidable feature of laundry work. We are assured, however, that this machinery makes it possible to handle garments, skirts in particular, so that the goods are neither stretched or torn. New special machinery for handling collars has also been installed which guarantees improved work.

CASA VERDUGO.

The McKinney's of North Glendale have recently sold their nine cottages on East Dryden street and on North Louise street. They depart for the North in a few weeks.

Mr. Stanford of West Geindale is erecting two six-room bungalows on his lots on North Louise street near Fairview avenue.

Mr. Henry A. Michel of Manchester Heights, Los Angeles, will in the very near future build three modern bungalows on the north side of Lincoln Place, North Glendale.

At the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith, 922 North Louise street, Glendale, Mr. Clarence O. Smith and Miss Edith Riley of Wisconsin, were united in marriage at high noon, Saturday, March 9, Rev. Norton of North Glendale M. E. church, officiating.

Miss Riley is a charming young woman, daughter of a successful South Wisconsin farmer. Mr. Clarence Smith is one of Glendale's enterprising young contractors, who with his father as partner, finds very few idle days.

The Smith home was beautifully decorated. Miss Nora Smith, a sister of the groom, furnished sweet wedding music. After sumptuous refreshments the happy couple departed amid a shower of rice and rain, for a week-end wedding trip to Catalina Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends in apartments at Mrs. Mabel Tight's, corner Third street and Glendale avenue, after April 1.

MARPLE-RIGG.

At the home of the bride's parents, 1120 El Molino street, Los Angeles, last Friday evening, Miss Cora Austin Rigg was married to Mr. Albert Marple of Tropico. None but members of the two families concerned were present at the ceremony which was conducted by Rev. Hugh Gibson of Los Angeles. The groom is well known in Tropico and Glendale, having been connected with the NEWS of the latter place for the past two years and the young couple will start in on their newly formed partnership with the hearty good wishes of many friends. They will be at home at 324 Reposia Court.

SUCCESSFUL TRAPPING.

Wallace Tupper who recently spent a week or more with a companion, camping out in Verdugo canon trapping coyotes and wild cats, reports having had very good success, twenty-nine of the animals having fallen a prey to his skill. Nearly all of them were taken alive and disposed of to menageries and the "sports" who use them in contests with dogs. He reports the game now so scarce as not to warrant any further campaigns in their pursuit at present.

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 15, 1912

The Japan current, the moon signs and some other things supposed to have been responsible for the dry weather up to March first must now yield place of honor to the old Indian, the ground squirrel and the wild animals coming down from the heights to the valleys for safety, all of which have foretold the present wet spell!

The position of Dr. Rowell of Fresno (uncle of C. H. Rowell) is identical with that of many other Republicans in the state who are supporting President Taft. Dr. Rowell says: "This movement (insurgency) has accomplished a good work, but I believe it is growing away from its original purpose and is getting beyond its intended scope and away from the persons who started it."

The sympathy of the people of the United States is certainly with President Madero of Mexico in his present time of trial; while, on the other hand Orozco is playing a part compared to which the act of Benedict Arnold was treason of only a mild degree. Orozco was the recipient of great personal favors from Madero, and the probability is that his demands were insatiable, and his treasonable action can have only a personal motive.

When Supervisor Pridham spoke at the Chamber of Commerce last Friday evening he called attention to the fact that fifteen citizens of the county are to be chosen to form a freeholders' charter for the county, and suggested that this section name one or more persons to be recommended for the honor of serving on that body. The name of Mr. Frank L. Muhleman, formerly city attorney of Glendale, has been named in this connection, and this paper takes pleasure in giving emphasis to the fact that a better selection could not be made. Mr. Muhleman is a student of governmental affairs, and qualified in every way to assist in this responsible undertaking.

STORM WATER PROBLEMS.

The heavy rainfall of the present week has caused considerable damage in Southern California, where every foothill town has its own problem of flood water to face. In Glendale and vicinity this problem is not as serious as in many other places, but it is serious enough, and to its satisfactory solution the best energies of our people should be bent. Provision should be made for the carrying off of the storm water in the Verdugo wash, and also for the overflow from Sycamore Canyon. For this purpose it should not be necessary to put in expensive works, but merely to provide a water course as straight as practicable along natural lines, and in some practical way confine the water to a free channel. The water from Sycamore Canyon should be provided with an outlet along the Childs Tract line, its natural course. At present it is dammed up on Fourth street opposite the school house and forced unnaturally westward to Adams street. Had "Childs avenue" been opened up along that line as proposed two or three years ago, the problem would have been greatly simplified, and the water could have been taken care of without injury to the property owners along the line. As it is at present, if Adams street property owners should suffer damage from storm water it is difficult to see how the city could evade responsibility. Such owners, however, as protested against the opening of Childs avenue in the rear of their property are debarred in equity from any claim for damage done on the Adams street side of their holdings.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Statesmen and politicians, political economists and private citizens of all classes have been and are yet struggling with this question, and the debate will no doubt continue, with many more or less interesting results, until some day when the bottom falls out of our present-day era of prosperity and we tumble down to bed rock and begin to adjust ourselves to an era of low prices and have a spasm of economy. Then the question will answer itself.

Prices are high primarily because the people are willing to pay them. The housekeeper who a generation ago would have walked to the store, purchased a bill of groceries and carried them home, now sends her order in by telephone for a ten-cent loaf of bread or a five-cent piece of soap, and expects to have it delivered promptly at the back door. Indirectly she pays for this service, for the merchant must employ extra help in order to deliver the goods. The luxuries of a half a century ago have become the necessities of today. The wage-earner who would once have been well content to eat a mid-day luncheon of butterless bread, with a small allowance of meat, eats now not only butter, but pie. The "tin dinner pail," of which we heard such doleful stories back in the "free silver" times, is pretty well filled with the best that the market affords. In almost every line of business there are men at work whose salaries depend upon their ability to read the signs of the times, the wants of the people, and supply them. This does not apply to the household merely, but to all branches of public utility, and a large portion of the taxes we pay represent our pro rata of the expense of something in the school, the office or the store which no one particularly needs, but which the luxurious spirit of the times demands. Between the producer and consumer stands an army of middlemen to pass along from one to the other the thing that could be reached without their help, and the middlemen must all be paid, and principally by the consumer. It is only by looking back over the past that one can realize that we live in an age of extravagance, and that the increase in the list of our alleged "needs" is being added to day by day. In the opinion of some of our deepest thinkers, we are getting so far away from the "simple life" that nothing but a period of financial depression will restore us to a realization of the true objects of life.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S DEFENSE.

The charge made against President Taft that he distrusts the American people has been splendidly met in his late address at Chicago, as follows:

"We all believe in popular government. I am aware of the criticism to which the suggestion that the American people may make mistakes by hasty action and lack of deliberation will expose one. I am aware of the ease with which such suggestion can be tortured into an expression of a distrust in the American people. I am aware that a body of people does not differ in certain traits from the individuals who make it up, and that people like to be flattered as do individuals. I know that a whole people does not, any more than the individuals, enjoy having their own defects pointed out to them.

"The truth is, though, that the man who tells the people of the danger that may arise from mistaken and hasty action pays a higher tribute to them than the one who constantly fawns upon them as if they were incapable of error. The most abiding compliment that can be paid to the American people is to point to the fact that in the constitution which they framed and have maintained, they have recognized the danger of hasty action by themselves, and have, in its checks and balances, voluntarily maintained a protection against it. The truth is, in this last century, we have vindicated popular government in a way that it has never before been vindicated.

"Distrust of popular government! The pride that I have that this is a popular government, and that it has shown itself the strongest in history, is as deeply embedded as any feeling that is in me. I would be the last man to exclude from the direction of the ship of state the will of the American people. That is the ultimate source of authority, and it does not in any way minimize my faith and my love of popular government that I insist that the expression of that popular will shall be with deliberation, to make it sound and safe.

"I fully and freely admit and assert that when the American people have had time to learn all the facts, and have had the time to consider their bearing, their deliberate judgment is a wiser and better guide for the state than the judgment of the most experienced statesman, the most learned jurist, the most learned and profound student of history. In this proper sense the voice of the people is nearer to the voice of God than any other human decision."

RECEPTION TO THE CALIFORNIA CONGRESS OF MOTHERS A GRAND SUCCESS.

The reception at the high school on Friday, March 8th, will go down in the records of the Glendale Union Federation of the Parent-Teachers Association as one of the greatest successes ever attempted by any body of women in the country. The number of visitors was between 200 and 300, and each and every one had nothing but the highest praise for the way in which the ladies of Glendale entertained them in the way of a most interesting program of brilliant addresses, and vocal and instrumental music, auto rides, etc.

The sumptuous dinner which was served in the gymnasium was a decided success, and after being generously served with the delicious viands and listening to some most interesting toasts, the guests filed out of the improvised dining room with a look of perfect satisfaction on their faces and many a compliment to all parties concerned.

Every one connected with the affair seemed to work in harmony and the entire day passed without anything whatever to mar the pleasantness of the whole affair. It was not meant to be a money making scheme in any way whatsoever, but from the small sum that was charged for the dinner, a goodly amount was realized and the treasury of the five different schools will be increased by a neat little sum. The president of the Glendale Federation, Mrs. Dr. Jessie Russell, deserves a great amount of credit for her management of the reception, and she in turn has words of praise for the ladies of the various committees for their untiring efforts in helping to make a success of the day. The young ladies who so gracefully served at the tables certainly deserve their share of compliments for their services.

The entire program was given in last week's NEWS, so it is needless to repeat the same.

The state president, Mrs. U. L. Hamilton, was loud in her praises of the courtesy extended the Mothers' Congress, and spoke in glowing terms of the noticeable display of the American flag that was draped in the rear of the platform, saying that in all her travels to the various schools, etc., that in none did she see such a prominent display, all ready and waiting, as was seen in the Glendale Union High school.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Miss Edith E. Smith of Boston was a visitor over Saturday and Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leon H. Hurtt of 203 West Third street. A delightful automobile party was given Sunday in her honor, the trip including La Crescenta and Sunland.

Miss Smith is a graduate of the Sargent school of Physical Education in Boston and has had interesting and wide experience in high school, Y. W. C. A. and settlement work, and is now one of the finest and most competent workers in her line to be found in the United States.

During this summer she plans to hold a summer school for girls at Miramar in Santa Barbara where a delightful outing will be enjoyed and physical and mental development pursued.

SOCIALISM

The Encyclopedia Britanica declares: "The ethics of Socialism are identical with the ethics of Christianity." Webster's Dictionary defines Socialism in the following words: "Socialism is a theory of society that advances a more precise, orderly and harmonious arrangement of the social relations of mankind than that which has hitherto prevailed."

Socialism is working for the betterment of all mankind, rich and poor alike.

It is the burning question of the hour; the great strides it has taken and the portentious front it today exhibits is not comprehended. For all its plea and passion and warmth, it wells upward like a great, cold, tidal wave, irresistible, inexorable, engulfing present day society level by level by its own preachment it is inexorable. It is evolution. It is justice, and justice will prevail.

This is a transition period, and destined to be a short one. Barely a century old, capitalism is ripening so rapidly that it never can live to see a second birthday. There is no hope for it; the Socialists say it is doomed.

Scientific socialism is very young, only yesterday it was in swaddling clothes, but today it is a vigorous young giant, well braced to battle for what it wants, and knowing precisely what it wants. It holds its international conventions, where world policies are formulated by the representatives of millions of Socialists.

In little Belgium there are half a million that work for the cause. In Germany 5,000,000. Austria raised her vote from 90,000 to 1,041,000 in three years. France has raised her vote from 30,000 to 900,000. In the new republic of China the prospects are that there will be at least ten Socialists in the governing body.

The culture and talent of a city always congregate in the cities. The city of Berlin in the election last month cast 77 per cent of its votes for the Socialist ticket. The remaining three parties received the 23 per cent, even carrying the ward that Emperor William resided in.

We will welcome the time when Socialism is supreme, for what a burden it will lift from the workers of the world, who are supporting hundreds of thousands of soldiers in idleness. For Socialism stands for international peace, and it's the only political party in the world that does so. A few million more Socialists in the world and war will be a hideous, repugnant dream of the past.

The time is fast approaching, when woman enfranchised as she will be the world over (for Socialistic victory means equal suffrage for woman) will refuse to vote for a system of selfishness and greed that will tear her flesh and blood away from her in a war of conquest to add a few million dollars more to the God of Mammon. Oh, no; the Socialists don't fear the woman's vote, they fear the womans' misunderstanding of Socialism only.

THE HATS THAT BLOOM IN THE SPRING.

Prettier than ever before was the millinery opening of Mrs. C. H. Eudemiller of 407 Brand boulevard during the latter part of the week. The shop itself was a riot of beautiful flowers and ferns forming an effective background for the lovely display of newest spring bonnets. The windows were most artistic, each decorated with a handsome bay tree and garlands of greenery and containing some of the most beautiful of the many beautiful creations on exhibit.

The ornaments and trimmings this season are lovelier than ever. Especially the flowers which were so realistic they were fairly fragrant, including the most gorgeous roses, tulips pansies and sweet peas, all French made.

The hats themselves are charming not running to extremes, but artistic and stylish. One there was a Napoleon shape of pure white Irish lace surmounted by a pleated frill of snowy maline, just peeping over the brim on the left side was a half-blown pink rose and a bit of silvered foliage. Another was a large hat, turning sharply up on one side, made of black maline over which gold, brocade lace made an exceedingly rich effect, the only ornament being a very handsome black bird of paradise.

A queer little hat, but one very popular in shape this spring was a Tam o'Shanter of black pleated lace over white satin. Two handsome French ostrich heads in purest white formed the trimming, the necessary touch of color being a single pink rose bud beneath the brim.

An unusually stunning hat was an English walking shape made of black pleated maline, veiled by white maline, with a band of black velvet around the crown, and three white French plumes on the left side front, an applique of heavy venise medallions around the outer edge of the brim made the entire effect one of especial richness and beauty.

Another, a "Gaby," was in two tones of golden yellow maline, the hat formed by a heavy braid of the maline bound down by bands of blue forget-menots.

Perhaps the prettiest was one which can only be described as a two-story hat, for it looked exactly like one hat on top of another hat. The lower part was the wire frame bound around and around with lilies of the valley, the upper brim was covered with heavy Arabian lace, a long flat bow of black velvet entered from the front edge to the back on the right side; on the left side was a cluster of pink rose buds and ferns. It was just as quaint and dear as could be.

There were dozens of others, each prettier than the last, and there is no doubt that anyone can find just what she wants, if not already created, it is waiting to be created at her desire

Misses Eleanor and May Richards entertained at "500" last Wednesday evening. Those present were the Misses Nelle Robb, Monica Smith, Edith Cutler, Mrs. Tholan, Messrs. Green, Richards, Ganahl, Kinbal, McElroy and Dr. Tholen.

The PAIN has come and we are assured a prosperous year. Now let's all get right busy and work together for that prosperity. If you want a new HAT, SHOES, UNDERWEAR, DRY GOODS or anything come and let us show you that we mean to do our part.

TRADES IN PRISONS.

The teaching of trades in prisons and the necessity thereof is a subject which every prisoner of intelligence makes the burden of his efforts, after emergence from our penal institutions. Abram Ruef is the latest convert to the idea and in so far it must be admitted that Mr. Ruef has rendered a service to the community. Some time ago a Los Angeles capitalist who served a term in San Quentin for attempting to kill his wife, began a crusade on his release, for the improvement of penal conditions, generally. Incidentally, he, too, pointed out the fact that the prisons were full of bright young and imaginative men, sons mainly of mechanics and laborers, who had practically no choice but the road of sin which leads behind stone walls.

California treats its prisoners like wild beasts and keeps them caged, idly and uselessly chewing the cud of resentment against the society which placed them where they are and which originally made it quite impossible for them to be anywhere else than in prison.

We should teach trades in prisons, it is true. But we should teach trades outside the prisons as well. The abolition of the apprentice system and the lack of manual training schools, the antagonism of the trades union for both, is what is filling the jails.

The same antagonism prevents the enactment of legislation to allow the convicts to learn a trade and the same antagonism prevents the convict earning a living, if he does acquire a trade in prison. Reform the labor union and you will accomplish much in the way to teach trades in schools and prisons, you will stop creating the prison bird and the social parish.

No more interesting reunion has ever been held at an American college than that which will take place in May at the University of Virginia. The few survivors among those who left their classes fifty years ago to join the Confederate army will then return in order to receive the highest honors the university can give. It is through such events like this that we realize what the Civil war cost. The University of Virginia and the Virginia Military Institute are but two of the many schools and colleges that treasure a roll of youthful heroes.—Youth's Companion.

That any damage or injury suffered by any person by reason of any excavation being improperly guarded during said work shall be borne by the grantee of said franchise, his or its successors or assigns.

That said city reserves the right to change the grade of any highway or portion thereof over which said franchise shall be granted, and the grantee of said franchise, his or its successors or assigns, shall at once change the location of all pipes and other appliances laid under said franchise so as to conform to such change of grade. Raleigh at the Block.

Fate and justice worked some peculiar pranks in the olden days. Sir Walter Raleigh, with the death sentence hanging over him for eighteen years, failing in his final voyage of discovery, returned to England and went cheerfully to the block. He left the Tower without the royal pardon in 1615. The adventurous but still condemned man had received permission to make another voyage to South America. If he should be successful in the outcome of his venture Raleigh knew the king's mercy would be granted him. But this last expedition, undertaken with such a vital interest at stake for Raleigh, was unfortunate in all its respects. At San Tomas, on the Cayenne river in Guiana, his men made a hostile attack upon a Spanish settlement. As England was then at peace with Spain, this act of war against the people of a friendly nation was a most grievous offense against the king. On Oct. 29, 1618, he suffered death by the ax. Having fingered the edge, he returned it and said, smiling to the sheriff, "This is a sharp medicine, but it is a sound cure for all diseases."

Had Fun With the Foreigners.

A passage in E. S. Bates' "Touring In 1600" makes the "bleeding" which Americans in Europe must expect seem a great improvement over other times:

"The two worst towns for brutality toward foreigners were by general consent London and Toulouse. In the former, according to Giordano Bruno, the shop people and artisans on seeing a stranger make faces, grin, laugh, hoot, call him dog, traitor, foreigner, the last name being the rudest they can think of, qualifying him for any other insult. Should he take the offensive or put his hand to his weapon an army of ruffians seems to spring out of the ground, flourishing a forest of sticks, poles, halberds and partisans. In a more playful humor, one will pretend to run away behind a booth and come out charging on the stranger like an angry bull. If an arm gets broken, as happened to one Italian, the bystanders shout with laughter, and the magistrate sees nothing reprehensible in the affair."

Behind the Scenes.

"The people who had the coveted 'privilege of the stage' in the days of our parents used to tell about the chorus women killing time between 'calls' with knitting and sewing. They would open their eyes wide if they could get a peep behind the scenes in one of the great vaudeville houses of London today," says a letter from that city, "where the managers have provided for the spare time of the entertainers. There are tea rooms for the women, where comfortable furniture and rugs take the places of the rickety chairs and bare floors of long ago. For the men there are club rooms, where between 'turns' one may see 'artists' in all the various branches of the profession at billiards, pool, bridge or chess. A trained nurse and a physician are always within call, and the management provides a school, where the stage children are educated while mamma dances and sings and papa does his share toward the entertainment."—New York Tribune.

The Fifteenth Century Gambler.

In the time of King Henry IV. of England the "smart set" managed to play bridge or its equivalent without shocking the susceptibilities of those who think it wrong to play for money. The fifteenth century gambler, according to one historian, "played at cards for counters, nails and points in every house more for pastime than for gain." "Everie scholar or peiyte (little one) that plaies for money is to be expelled," ordains a grammar school charter of the period. One of the duties of hospital sisters was "to make dilygentt searche amonge the poore for cards or dice."

Fixing the Thermometer.

When a thermometer falls without breaking and the mercury becomes separated in the tube and thus fails to register correctly, the best and quickest way to repair it is to put the thermometer into a small saucepan of cold water on the stove; allow the water to heat until the mercury is forced to the top, and then remove from the fire, and when it settles the mercury will go down the column unbroken.

Foolish to Close.

"Why do you wish to close this show?" demanded the beautiful actress.

"It's losing money," replied the manager.

"What of that? The critics all say that I look lovely in my part."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Optimist.

"There are very few real optimists," remarked the contemplative citizen.

"What is your idea of a real optimist?"

"A man who can walk to work just as cheerfully as if he were chasing a golf ball."—Washington Star.

Friends and Foes.

Dear to me is the friend, yet can I make even my very foe do me a friend's part. My friend shows me what I can do; my foe teaches me what I should do.—Schiller.

Corrected His Veracity.

James—Papa, I ain't got no sirup. Father—John, correct your brother. John (leaning over and peering into James' plate)—Yes you is.—Harper's Weekly.

Her Mild Wish.

Three rival tailors lived in the same street. One had a notice board over his shop with "Brown, the best tailor in the world," upon it. White, not to be outdone, followed suit with a notice, "White, the best tailor in London."

Lisbon's Great Earthquake.

Each recurring All Saints' day, the first day of November, recalls to the people of the city of Lisbon the most awful event in the history of that country or indeed in all Europe, the great earthquake of 1755. At 9 o'clock in the morning on a day clear and serene came a hollow rumbling sound, as of thunder, and immediately after the terrible convulsion of the earth which shook down houses and buried or crushed 30,000 persons. Many of the churches were at the time filled with their congregations, and each one became a huge catacomb entombing its worshipers. Twenty-two successive shocks were counted. In the city prison 800 were killed and in the hospital 1,200. The sea retired from the harbor, which it left dry, and then returned in a gigantic wave fifty to sixty feet high, overwhelming many who had escaped the falling houses. It was estimated that in Lisbon and its immediate neighborhood nearly 6,000 persons had perished.

San Diego, Feb. 29.—(Special to the NEWS)—President D. C. Collier of the San Diego exposition has made a statement regarding the action of the U. S. senate committee following San Francisco's failure to keep the agreement made with San Diego two years ago, an agreement that hampered the San Diego exposition and restricted it to certain narrow limits.

President Collier says: "The war is on. San Diego accepts the challenge of San Francisco. An unholy alliance has sought to destroy the San Diego exposition. For many months I have seen that the limitation of the agreement with San Francisco, which we considered binding on us, seriously jeopardized the success of our exposition. The shackles are now stricken off; our hands are free, and we will build an exposition of which the whole Unites States will be proud. They have deprived us of an official invitation to Latin-America; but have thereby given us the wide world as a field. We are relieved of all obligations and the way is now clear for us to assemble from every country on the globe such exhibits as will be essential to an exposition absolutely unique in history.

"Ever since my arrival in Washington I have realized the futility of such a resolution, and have been working along a dozen lines to secure things essential to our success. I have no hesitation in saying that when I return to San Diego I will be able to announce plans for the exposition which will justify us in redoubling our efforts."

"In the last few years we have laid the foundation of a truly great city because of the unity of sentiment within. Out of my heart of hearts I say that our course leads on to certain success in the end. San Diego is known today from ocean to ocean because she dared to aspire; because she dared to fight. Before the exposition is over she will be known throughout the world as the bravest city of anything like her size that ever tackled a big undertaking."

TROPICO

Rev. C. B. Hatch, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will take for his subjects next Sunday the following: Morning, "The Limits of Patience;" evening, "A Surprise Promptly Met."

The Guarantee Building and Investment company of Los Angeles, has purchased a number of lots in the Richardson tract and within the next sixty days will put up six new homes, which will be offered for sale.

Work was started several days ago on the opening of the west end of Park avenue into Griffith Park. When completed this road will enter the park just below the new aviation field. It will be largely traveled by autoists and others.

Rumor has it that within a short time work will commence on a hospital to be located near the Southern Pacific tracks just north of the present site of the piano factory. As to the owners of the hospital nothing can be learned as yet.

Frank H. Davis, proprietor of the Davis Grocery company of this place, has been appointed by Postmaster Harrison of Los Angeles, as his deputy to take charge of the Tropico postoffice after April 1st, when it will be a branch of the Los Angeles office.

A box social will be given in the K. of P. hall tonight by the Fraternal Brotherhood lodge of this place. The affair will be under the able management of a committee composed of Miss Mable Coleman, Messrs. Fred Spear and Noble Ripley. Dancing will be the pleasing feature of the entertainment.

Another of those enjoyable dancing parties will be given by the Knights of Pythias lodge in their hall on San Fernando road, next Thursday evening. In the past these dances have proved to be exceedingly enjoyable affairs and the one to be held Thursday evening promises to be no exception to the rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ayers and Miss Harriet Myers entertained the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Presbyterian Sunday school in the church parlors, last night. The affair was one of the most enjoyable ever given in this church, it being in the form of an Irish party. Many unique Irish features were presented by the entertainers and these were greatly enjoyed by those presnt. Irish dcorations were used.

The home belonging to James R Riley in the Richardson tract was destroyed by fire Monday night. At about 11 o'clock the fire was seen by William Gould, night watchman of this city, and at once Mr. Gould gave the alarm. The Tropico volunteer fire department responded quickly but it was found that it was impossible to do anything toward saving the building. The firemen succeeded in saving much of the elegant furnishings. At a late hour an alarm was sent to the Glendale fire department, which responded in a remarkably short time under the supervision of Marshal Miller, but when that bunch of fire fighters arrived on the scene only the chimney was standing. The home was one of the finest in the tract, being valued at about $4000.

COMPANY WANTS SITE HERE.

Representatives of the Los Angeles China company appeared before the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of that body Monday evening, requesting that the people of Tropico join with them in making the locating of a china manufacturing establishment at this place a reality. The company wishes the people of this place to subscribe for $15,000 worth of stock in the company, while the company will put the same amount into the structure. Then after the firm has shown that they mean business and can produce the goods, the company claim that it will erect a building to cost about $150,000 which will furnish employment for at least 250 people.

The company's representatives have their eyes on a five-acre piece of the Chandler ranch on the west side of the Southern Pacific tracks, near the tile works. The Tropico people are inclined to look with favor on the proposition.

WEST GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Engle of Edendale spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. W. R. Glover, 1526 Ivy street.

A dangerous pastime that many a small boy has been seen to engage in, especially on the way home from school, with a crowd of other youngsters, proved rather disastrous to the small son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Van Meter of 1658 Vine street. The little feiolw was climbing on a telephone pole, but unfortunately fell, injuring his face quite badly.

The sanitary paper towels that have been used with such good results in the public schools and other institutions of the country, will be used in the schools of Glendale hereafter, the trustees deciding they are by far the better kind. There have been a great many cases of what is called the "pink eye" among the children of the different schools and as it is a very contagious disease, it is thought that by using these paper towels not only that trouble, but many other minor troubles, where so many children are obliged to use the same towel, will be greatly lessened. They have been in use in the West Glendale school for some time, and have given entire satisfaction. They may be a little expensive to begin with, but by far the cheapest in the end.
